a fill permit was obtained in 2015 to raise farmland to road grade because parts of the farm was lower than the bottom of the road ditch. the town was told it was going to take several years because the fill had to be much cleaner because it was going to be farmed. in 2019 the town of Essex passed a new bylaw 1799 , which resulted in the pulling of the permit. the former SLR company was doing the work, I understand the town has problems with their other sites . my site is not comparable to their other sites my site grade is well below the bylaw standards old and new. the site is much cleaner and ditching is completed around the whole farm. I ask council to review my site individually and reinstate the old permit and conditions since I feel the permit was pulled without just cause. my understanding is when new bylaws such as this is created previous sites or work is usually grandfathered in.
